Come for the workshops! Choose four of the following

Choreography

JoAnna Holt Mischler, West Des Moines

JoAnna has directed and choreographed musicals for Urbandale Community Theatre for many years. Experience how she taught cast members the choreography for the waiters' scene in "Hello, Dolly!"

Costuming and Makeup

Gwynne Burke, Ankeny

Evie Somsen, Fort Dodge

Gwynne is an experienced costumer, having created costumes for many years for the former Ingersoll Dinner Theatre in Des Moines. That collection is now available to rent at Party Productions in Fort Dodge. Learn how to create a costume plot and find the costumes for your next production. Includes a tour of the wardrobe collection.

Evie is the Theatrical Shop Manager at Party Productions. She will demonstrate basic stage makeup, special effects makeup, and working with crepe hair.

Improvisation

Rick Myers, Sioux City

ICTA board member Rick invites you to have fun and learn the value of improvisation for the stage actor.

Stage Combat

Jason Tipsword, Coralville

This participatory workshop covers basic unarmed stage combat—slaps, punches, kicks, chokes—and stage falls—the safe way to "find the floor".

Radio Plays

Douglas Donald, Dubuque

The Director of Theatre at Loras College will provide information on the advantages and challenges of staging a radio play: selecting the script, character development using just your voice, creating sound effects, costuming, and more.

Stage Lighting

Niles Sayre, Stage Technology of Minneapolis, MN

Session 1—Lighting the play, not just the stage: the functions of light, quality of light, the tools of stage lighting, lighting positions and angles, and color and intensity in light.

Session 2—This continuation of Session 1 covers color and intensity in light, lighting and scenic materials, and atmospheric effects and lighting.

Marketing to Bus Tour Groups

Tom Swatosh, St. Cloud, MN

Tom is the account executive of "Itineraries Midwest", which promotes group travel in Iowa and the Midwest. He will discuss his plan to promote members of the Iowa Community Theatre Association to tour group operators.

Come for the Show

Webster City
Community Theatre
